Go Green with MEX

Environmental degradation has become a burning issue with each passing day. Everyday we see, hear and feel the effects of environmental degradation ranging from flooding and landslides to heat waves and acid rain. Much of the global community has started to respond to these changes and we at MEX have started a new initiative to respond to these climatic changes.

At MEX Nepal we care about our impact on the environment, so in honor of Earth Day 2010, we're announcing some new and exciting green initiatives that we're undertaking as a company. As one of the nation's fastest growing exchange, we believe in the importance of letting our clients understand our commitment to eco-friendly policies.
